

KENDRIYA VIDYALAYA SANGATHAN
BHUBANESWAR REGION
MARKING SCHEME FOR 1st PRE-BOARD EXAMINATION (2024-25)
SUBJECT – ENGLISH COMMUNICATIVE (Code No. 101)
CLASS – X M.M. – 80 TIME – 3 hrs
SET – 1

General Instructions: -

1. The marking scheme carries only suggested value points for the answers. These are in the nature of Guidelines only and do not constitute the complete answer. The students can have their own expression and if the expression is correct, then due marks should be awarded accordingly.
2. If the student has attempted an extra question, answer of the question deserving more marks should be retained and the other answer scored out with a note “Extra Question”.
3. If more than one option is mentioned in the answer of multiple choice questions, then no marks to be awarded.

Section A: Reading (22 marks)

Q.1. Answer the following questions, based on the passage above.

(I) (c) In the past, countries could progress economically through low manufacturing cost as well as low wages of labourers. 1 mark

(II) (d) All A, B, C 1 mark

(III) (c) India and the Hunt for a knowledge-based economy. 1 mark

(IV) (a) weakness 1 mark

(V) (c) miniature 1 mark

(VI) True 1 mark

(VII) resemble 1 mark

(VIII) At the behest of the world Trade Organisation, India agreed that it would not manufacture cheap common medicines without a license. 1 mark

(IX) Cheap labour, educated employees and research institutes to cater to development are needed for the economic success of a country according to the passage. 2 marks

(X) To head towards a knowledge-based economy the Asian countries other than India are investing in large and diverse higher education systems. They are providing access to large number of students at the bottom of the academic system and at the same time building competitive research-based universities. 2 marks

Q.2. Answer the following questions based on the passage above: -

(I) (b) It forces us to change the ways in which we lead our lives. 1 mark

(II) (c) “People either inspire you or they drain you, choose wisely.” – Hans F Hansen 1 mark

(III) (a) Selective approach 1 mark

- (IV) (b) A and C 1 mark
- (V) (b) Thousands of cows have succumbed to the disease in the past few months 1 mark
- (VI) According to the author we all often try to go with the flow because of our human tendency. 1 mark
- (VII) The typical traits seen in teenagers are
- (a) They like to spend most of their time with friends.
 - (b) They try to become independent and they form their ideals and principles.
 - (c) They try to shape their own personality and try to understand themselves. 2 marks

(VIII) The multi-dimensional approach that can ensure a positive gain from peer pressure is that approach that consists of a strong support from family, an ability to differentiate between the positive and the negative and a will to choose friends from among the peers. 2 marks

Section B: Writing Skill (22 marks)

- Q. 3. Email Writing 3 marks
- Content – 1, Organisation – 1 & Accuracy – 1
- Q.4. Descriptive paragraph writing 4 marks
- Content – 2, Organisation – 1 & Accuracy – 1
- Q.5. Formal letter writing 7 marks
- Format – 1, Content – 3, Organisation – 2 & Accuracy – 1
- Q.6. Article 8 marks
- Format – 1, Content – 3, organisation – 3 & Accuracy – 1
- (Credit may be given to creative writing)

Section C: Grammar (10 marks)

Complete the tasks (A) to (c) as directed.

- 7.A. Gap filling 3 marks
- (I) depends 1 mark
 - (II) on 1 mark
 - (III) fail 1 mark

B. Editing

	Incorrect	correct
(I)	the	a	1 mark
(II)	for	in	1 mark
(III)	by	with	1 mark
(IV)	were	are	1 mark

C. (I) Yes, archers of Bhutan pay no heed to the plunging temperature of winter when they compete in propelling arrows across a field. 1 mark

(II) Where they could meet the next day. 1 mark

(III) if he was going to be busy. 1 mark

SECTION D: LITERATURE TEXTBOOK (26 mark)

8.A. (I) 'He' in the above paragraph refers to Ali 1 mark

(II) He realised this philosophy when his only daughter, Miriam got married and stayed in a different city with her husband and Ali became utterly lonely. 1 mark

(III) He was going through the pain of loneliness. He was suffering as he was eagerly waiting for a letter from his daughter. 1 mark

(IV) He started visiting the post office everyday braving the harsh weather. 1 mark

B. (I) Julius Caesar is the speaker of the above lines. 1 mark

(II) Calpurnia, Caesar's wife tried to detain Caesar at home due to the most unnatural sights seen by the watchman. So, Caesar was trying to convince her and himself that he would go to the senate as he is fearless and death is inevitable. 1 mark

(III) The quality of the speaker that is revealed here is bravery. Caesar is portrayed as a brave general who is not afraid of death. 1 mark

(IV) Those who are cowards, they experience the torments of death several times before they actually die. On the other hand, those who are brave, they experience death only once. 1 mark

C. (I) 'you' mentioned in the second line of the excerpt refers to the poet's friend. 1 mark

(II) Oblivious means being unaware or not conscious of something. Enmity is referred to as oblivious because enmity or resentment does not care the relationship, friendship, the worth and the significance of somebody or something.

(III) The ending doom refers to the last day of the world when God will judge everyone's actions and send them to heaven or hell. 1 mark

(IV) The tone of the above lines is optimistic or positive or assertive. 1 mark

Q.9. (a) Short Answer Questions (five of six) 2x5=10 marks

To be marked for content and organisation

(I) Gogon Pakrash was Patol Babu's mentor. Patol Babu described him as a wonderful actor without a trace of vanity in him, a saintly person and an actor in millions. He preached that each word spoken in a play is like a fruit in a tree. Not everyone in the audience has access to it. But the actor, must know how to pluck it, get at its essence and serve it up to the audience for his edification. 2 marks

(II) The given statement made by the frog was ironical as he was the one who drove the nightingale away from her originality. Initially the nightingale had her melodious and original voice. But the cruel, cunning and jealous frog insisted the nightingale to emulate his style and he made all the efforts to abstract the original talent of the nightingale. Thus, the frog's remark on maintaining the originality of art is quite ironic.

(III) The two boys were at the deserted square at midnight because they were waiting for the last bus from Padua to sell all their unsold newspapers to the travellers in the bus. The character traits, they exhibit were self-determination, hardworking, perseverance etc.

2 marks

(IV) Grandfather decides to do three things on next Monday. Firstly, he will change the will. Secondly, he will pay the premium of his insurance and thirdly he will get married to Mrs. John Shorrocks at St. Philip's church.

2 marks

(V) Decious Brutus interpreted the dream of Calpurnia. He said that that was a favourable vision. Caesar's status spouting blood symbolized Caesar bringing life and vitality to Rome. He further explained that the Romans bathing their hands in the pure blood of Caesar represented their reverence for Caesar and their wish to preserve the noble blood for posterity as stains, tinctures, relics and cognizance. It was a tribute to his gallantry.

2 marks

(VI) Ali went to the post office daily with the hope of receiving a letter from his only daughter, Miriam. He felt as if it was his religious duty to go there. Just like the glimpse of the place of pilgrimage gives the pilgrims immense happiness, like that Ali's heart is filled with immense happiness at the view of the post office. This reflects Ali's love and affection for his daughter. This also reflects Ali's immense patience and bondless faith. 2 marks

10. Answer any one of the following two questions in about 150 words. 1X8=8

Content – 4, organisation – 3 & Accuracy – 1

Suggested value points: -

- Both the poems vividly explored the theme of sin, repentance and redemption.
- The mariner's impulsive act of killing the albatross, a creature seen as a good omen, is a grave sin against nature.
- This act disrupts the natural order, brings misfortune.
- The mariner realises his mistake, faces severe consequences of suffering, isolation.
- His repentance lifts the curse and have his redemption.
- Similarly, in the poem 'Snake', Lawrence explores sin through the speaker's act that is influenced by societal norms or voice of education to kill the snake that comes to his water trough.
- like the mariner, the speaker regrets his violent impulse.
- He recognizes the snake's nobility, dignity as one of the lords of life.

4 of 5

- He repents and wishes the snake should come back so that he will pay his due honour to him.
- Both the poems highlight the consequences of violating nature and emphasize that redemption is possible only through humility, respect and a deep connection to the natural world.

or

- "None are so empty as those who are full of themselves."

- A quote by Benjamin Whichcote.
- Being too confident in yourself or full of yourself can lead you to live a rather empty and unfulfilling life.
- Mrs. Packletide is a shallow, vain and pretentious woman. She brags of herself and always wants to outshine her arch rival.
- She is overpowered with absolute jealousy and is driven by her competitive nature and craze for publicity.
- She seeks refuge in hypocrisy, makes use of her massive financial resources to carry out her whimsical endeavour – that of shooting a tiger, which however takes her down several steps of the ladder.
- In the poem 'Ozymandias', the poet describes the ruin of an ancient king's statue in a foreign land.
- The king, Ozymandias thinks himself as king of kings. He is overconfident and boastful of his achievements. He builds a vast statue of himself to project his power and achievements.
- However, in the end the statue is destroyed and ruined suggesting that both great rulers and their kingdoms will fall to the sands of time.
- The emptiness of both Mrs. Packletide and Ozymandias conveys to the readers the future of selfishness, arrogance, overconfidence and the misuse of power, vanity and achievements.
