In addition, it is the backbone that further boosts the growth of primary and secondary sectors. OR Yes, the workers are exploited in the unorganized sector in India, and there are plenty of examples to back up this statement. Unorganized Sector – Different Ways of Exploitation • The laws to protect the laborers are not followed and strategies are used to evade taxes by such enterprises. • The earnings of the workers are not regular. • The salary of the workers is very low. • Workers are not given a fair wage and they are exploited to work more.	3

	• These jobs do not give any extra benefits to the workers. • Jobs of the workers are not secure.
27	The steps include - (i) abolition of intermediaries, (ii) fixation of ceilings on land holdings and (iii) redistribution of surplus land among landless or semi-landless peasants. Besides, any special measures adopted to prevent alienation of tribal land and consolidate fragmented holdings come within the broad definition of agrarian reforms.
28.	It is not politics that gets caste-ridden, it is the caste that gets politicized. 1) Each caste group tries to become bigger by incorporating within it neighboring castes or sub-castes which were earlier excluded from it. 2) Various caste groups are required to enter into a coalition with other castes or communities and thus enter into a dialogue and negotiation. 3) New kinds of caste groups have come up in the political arena like 'backward' and 'forward' caste groups.	3
29.	The objectives of NREGA 2005 is to implement the right to work law in 200 districts of the country in the first phase of its implementation. LONG ANSWER-BASED QUESTIONS (5X4=20)
30.	Appropriate and sensible management of resources is resource planning. There are three mechanisms involved. Resources are put to use as per the economy's capacity and growth needs. The three pathways are 1. Identity and inventory of resources throughout various regions of the country. Surveying, mapping, qualitative and quantitative assessment and resource calculation are included. 2. Development of a planning system with sufficient technical capabilities and operational set-up for the execution of proposals for resource development. 3. Synchronizing the development of capital with national development strategies as a whole. OR • Land Degradation happens when the quality of the land gets degraded because of natural or human reasons. Degradation is caused by multiple forces, including extreme weather conditions, particularly drought. It is also caused by human activities that pollute or degrade the quality of soils and land utility. Urbanization, Mining, Land Pollution etc.	5
31.	Nationalism did not develop only through wars and territorial expansion, but culture played an important role in building the idea of nation. 1 Art, poetry, stories and music helped in creating and expressing nationalist sentiments.	5

	2 Romanticism was one such cultural movement which wanted to develop a certain national spirit. 3 Romantic artists and poets criticized the glorification of rational science and instead emphasized feelings, insight and mystical feelings. Their effort was to create a sense of a shared collective heritage and a shared cultural past as the basis of the nation. 4 Romantic thinkers such as German philosopher Johann Gottfried claimed that true German culture lay in its common people. The true soul of the nation was revealed through folk songs, folk poetry and folk dances. 5 The emphasis on local dialects and the collection of local folklore was aimed not only at bringing back the ancient national spirit but also at conveying the modern national message to a large number of people, most of whom were illiterate. 6 Poland, which had been partitioned by increased powers such as Russia, Prussia and Austria in the late eighteenth century, kept the national spirit alive through music and language. For example, folk dances were converted into national symbols. 7. Language also played an important role in the development of national feelings. The Polish language came to be seen as a symbol of the struggle against Russian domination. Or Unification of Germany – Unification of Germany can be understood through the following process- 1 Napoleon organized various German states under the German-Confederation by his conquests, which made the German states feel together. 2 Nationalist sentiments were widespread among middle-class liberal Germans. And in 1848, he attempted to form a nation-state governed by an elected parliament by uniting various areas of the German federation. But this liberal initiative of nation-building was suppressed by the power of the monarchy and the army together. 3 After that Prussia took over the leadership of the movement for national integration. 4 His chief minister, Otto von Bismarck, was the father of this process who took the help of the Prussian army and bureaucracy. 5 Prussia had three wars with Austria, Denmark, and France during seven years in which Prussia wins and the German states are unified. King William I of Prussia is declared Emperor of Germany. 6 On January 1871, a meeting of the princes of the German states, representatives of the army and important ministers of Prussia, including Chief Minister Otto von Bismarck, took place in the very cold hall of mirrors of Versailles. 7 Assembly proclaimed the new German Empire under the leadership of Kaiser Wilhelm I of Prussia.
32.	Multi-party system. In this system, the government is formed by various parties coming together in a coalition. When several parties in a multi-party system join hands for the purpose of contesting elections and winning power, it is called an alliance or a front. For example, in India there were three major alliances in 2004 parliamentary elections—the National Democratic Alliance (NDA), the United Progressive Alliance (UPA) and the Left Front. This system on one hand leads to political instability but at the same time, allows for a variety of interests and opinions to enjoy political representation. Each country develops a party system that is suitable for its special circumstances. India has evolved as a multi-party system because its social and geographical diversity cannot be absorbed by two or three parties. Thus, such representation strengthens democracy. Multi-	5 party system facilitates representation of regional and geographical diversities. In India, several regional parties are in power at the State level such as the DMK in Tamil Nadu, Akali Dal in Punjab the BSP in Uttar Pradesh. OR Answer- Congress party was formed before independence i.e. in 1885. This party is one of the oldest parties in India. Principles of the Congress Party: 1. Ideologically it is a centrist (neither left nor right) party. 2. This party supports new economic reforms. 3. This party has full faith in secularism. 4. The Congress party has made its agenda based on secularism and the interests of the weaker sections and minority communities. 5. U.P.A. (United Progressive Alliance) is its alliance at centre.

33.	Credit plays a crucial role in a country's development. By sanctioning loans to developing industries and trade, banks provide them with the necessary aid for improvement. This leads to increase in the production, profits and employment. However, caution must be exercised in the case of loans from the informal sector which include high interest rates that may be more harmful than good. For this reason, it is important that the formal sector gives out more loans so that borrowers are not duped by moneylenders, and can ultimately contribute to national development. For example- A loan given to a fresh post-graduate for setting up a business might contribute to employment generation, infrastructure development in the near future. Cheaper credit helps rural and urban household in removing their poverty and improving their standard of living. OR : 1. The basic idea behind the SHGs for the poor is to provide them with a vista for self-help in financial areas. 2. A self-help group is a small group comprising people in the rural areas who collect their savings, and loan these out to members on an interest rate lower than that charged by the informal sector. 3. If the SHG functions well for over a year, then it becomes eligible for loans from banks. 4. Such loans are then used for creating self-employment opportunities for the poor. 5. Thus, they become economically upgraded, and are not dependent on moneylenders anymore.	5
