

10PB24ENG01

KENDRIYA VIDYALAYA SANGATHAN ERNAKULAM REGION

PRE-BOARD -1- ENGLISH COMMUNICATIVE (CODE NO:101)

CLASS X (2024-25)

ANSWER KEY

1.

- I. B. daily stresses and technological distractions (1)
- II. C. seek and appreciate beauty (1)
- III. beauty (1)
- IV. Correct Statement: The joy derived from beauty is enduring and provides solace during difficult times. (1)
- V. FALSE (1)
- VI. Keats suggests that beauty is an enduring source of joy, implying that true beauty has the power to uplift and inspire individuals continuously, rather than providing only temporary pleasure. (1)
- VII. Beauty in nature can be seen in blooming flowers, colorful sunsets, and the serene sounds of flowing rivers, each providing a source of inspiration and joy. (2)
- VIII. Beauty evokes emotions such as wonder, awe, and peace, which enhance mental and emotional well-being and provide solace in difficult moments. (2)
- IX. By recognizing beauty within us, we cultivate self-love, which encourages kindness towards others, thus contributing to a more compassionate and joyful community. (2)

2.

- I. gradual (1)
- II. C) Only ii (1)
- III. C) Higher production costs for alternative materials (1)
- IV. They argue that plastics take hundreds of years to decompose, releasing harmful chemicals into soil and waterways causing long term damage to ecosystem. (1)
- V. False (1)
- VI. A sudden plastic ban could lead to job losses in industries dependent on plastic manufacturing and recycling. / In regions where the economy relies heavily on these sectors, such a ban could result in economic instability. (1)
- VII. they educate consumers about the environmental impact of plastics and encourage them to support businesses that adopt sustainable practices. (2)

VIII. The main environmental issues include plastic waste ending up in landfills and oceans, harming wildlife and marine ecosystems, and releasing harmful chemicals into soil and waterways during its long decomposition period.

Reducing plastic consumption contributes to a healthier planet by lowering these harmful effects, preserving biodiversity, and preventing the contamination of natural resources. (2)

3. Subject: Malfunctioning Projector in Class X Section B

Respected Principal

I am writing this mail to bring to your attention a technical issue in our classroom. The projector in Class X B is malfunctioning and needs immediate repair or replacement.

The issue started [mention specific time/day] and has been persisting since then. Despite restarting the projector several times, the problem persists. This has disrupted our lessons, particularly those that require visual aids.

I request you to arrange for the projector's repair or replacement at your earliest convenience. Alternatively, if possible, a temporary replacement could be provided to minimize disruption to our studies. Thank you for your prompt attention to this matter.

Yours sincerely

Satvika/Satvik

Class Leader- Class X B

Content :1

Organisation:1

Accuracy:1

4. Factual description:

Important points for content: Brief description of the person

Background: the person's upbringing, education, and significant life experiences that shaped him/her.

Occupation: the person's profession or field of expertise. What makes the person stand out in his/her work?

Passions and hobbies: interests outside of work.

Personality traits: most notable characteristics.

Influence on others: how the person has impacted others' life or perspective - lessons learned from him/her

Memorable experiences: specific anecdotes or moments that illustrate why he/she is so interesting.

Content: 2 Organisation: 1 Accuracy:1

5A.

Sender's Address

Date

Receiver's Address

Subject: Promoting Eco-Tourism and Responsible Travel Practices

Sir/Ma'am

Through the medium of this letter I would like to outline strategies to promote ecotourism and raise awareness about responsible travel practices that conserve the environment, i.e. sustainable tourism practices that minimise negative impacts on the environment while benefiting local communities.

Ecotourism can be a boon for the earth and its ecological balance. Being mindful during travel can help us conserve natural resources and not harm the environment.

Encouraging travellers to adopt responsible travel practices such as reducing waste, conserving water and energy, respecting wildlife and supporting local economies by purchasing local products and services is one way to contribute.

Another is to involve local communities in ecotourism initiatives by providing training and employment opportunities, allocating funds and resources to support conservation projects, promoting sustainable transportation options such as biking, hiking, public transit and carpooling to reduce carbon emissions.

I hope that the Ministry will consider these steps which can help raise awareness about Ecotourism by sensitising people and making them realise its positive effects on the environment.

Yours sincerely

Signature

Name

5B. Receiver's Address

Date

Sender's Address

Subject: The Alarming Threat of E-Waste

Sir/Madam

Through the columns of your esteemed newspaper, I wish to make the people of our nation aware of the problems that arise due to waste. Electronic waste or e-waste results due to people throwing away their obsolete, unwanted and non-functional electronic equipment and appliances like mobile phones, TV sets, radios, old refrigerators etc. when they buy new or more advanced models.

The quantity of e-waste generated and recycled domestically is unknown, but recycling is carried out by small operators to recover valuable metals like gold and silver. The remaining waste is illegally disposed of in water bodies like rivers, ponds or in sewage, which ultimately pollutes the water and land. This not only worsens the problem of pollution faced by the nation, but also creates many other problems. E-waste leads to radioactive pollution which results in unwarranted mutations in our environment. Besides one cannot forget the various ill effects it has on human life.

I request your esteemed publication to highlight this critical issue, inspiring collective action towards a sustainable future.

Yours sincerely

Name

Format – 1 Content- 3 Organisation- 2 Accuracy- 1

6A. The Significance of Physical Health in Daily Life

By line

Physical health plays a vital role in our daily lives, having an impact not only on our body but also on our mental well-being. Regular physical activity promotes the release of endorphins, often referred to as "feel-good" hormones, which help reduce stress, anxiety, and depression. A healthy body supports a sharp mind, leading to increased focus and productivity.

Neglecting physical health, however, can lead to various health issues, including obesity, cardiovascular diseases, and poor mental health. A sedentary lifestyle often results in fatigue, low energy, and heightened feelings of stress, ultimately affecting quality of life.

Discipline is the key to maintaining physical health. Consistent exercise, a balanced diet, and adequate sleep form the foundation of a healthy lifestyle. On World Health Day, it is crucial to recognize the importance of prioritizing physical health, as it directly influences both mental and emotional well-being, fostering a more balanced and fulfilling life.

6B. The Importance of Inclusive Education in Building a Fair and Equitable Society BY LINE

Inclusive education plays a crucial role in ensuring that every child, regardless of abilities, disabilities, or backgrounds, receives equal access to quality learning. It promotes diversity and equity by creating a learning environment where all students can thrive together, removing barriers that might otherwise limit their potential.

Schools and teachers are key in implementing inclusive education. By adopting flexible teaching methods and providing support for diverse learning needs, they create spaces where every student feels valued and respected. Inclusive education teaches students empathy, tolerance, and respect for differences, which are essential for fostering a culture of acceptance.

Moreover, inclusive education prepares students for life in a diverse world. By learning to work and collaborate with peers from different walks of life, students develop the social and emotional skills needed to contribute positively to society, helping to build a more fair and equitable future for all.

Format- 1 Content- 3 Organisation-3 Accuracy- 1

7. One mark each

I. must II. is III. achieved

8. One mark each

before omission after

1. in the afternoon

2. weather was perfect

3. to carry/take water

4. had an extra

9. One mark each

a) How are you planning to handle the unforeseen challenges that might arise during the process?

b) I. if he had been there before. II. he had always wanted to see the Eiffel Tower.

SECTION D.

10.A. one mark each (4+4 =8 marks)

i. Mrs. Packletide aimed at the tiger, but instead, she accidentally shot the goat.

II. The expression 'senile decay' means degeneration caused due to age.

III. The tiger didn't die from the bullet but collapsed due to old age or weakness, rather than any injury from Mrs. Packletide's shot.

IV. The incident shows Mrs. Packletide's lack of hunting skills, as she failed to hit the tiger and instead caused the death of the goat, which was not the target. Despite this, she took credit for the tiger's death.

B.I. 'It' refers to the nightmare that Calpurnia had about Caesar's statue spouting blood in which many lusty Romans came and washed their hands.

II The senate has concluded to award a crown to Julius Caesar on that day.

III If the speaker does not attend, the senators' minds may change, implying that their decision to crown Caesar might be reversed.

IV The crown symbolizes the power and authority that the senate intends to bestow upon Julius Caesar.

C.I. Patol Babu

II. He thought so because he was given only one monosyllabic exclamation

III. Prank or trick played on someone

IV The people associated with the making of the film.

11. Two marks each (to be marked for Content and Organisation. Up to one mark can be deducted for accuracy)

I. The boys' willingness to work tirelessly to pay for Lucia's treatment exemplifies both sacrifice and responsibility. They forgo their own comfort, education, and leisure to fulfill a family duty. Despite the challenges and exhaustion, they remain undeterred, showing that they value their sister's well-being above their own. This selflessness and accountability highlight the depth of their commitment and love.

ii. The nightingale met an unfortunate end but to some extent she herself was responsible for her miserable fate. She had no confidence in her own abilities and was easily influenced and tricked by the frog. She was too gullible to understand that the frog was exploiting her.

iii. His humanity and the feeling that the snake was his guest conflicted with his education and inner voice. This led to his dual attitude towards the snake.

iv. The sailors on the ship are fickle-minded and utterly superstitious. They condemn the Ancient Mariner for killing the bird at first but later say that it was a wise decision. When they face difficulties again, they again blame the mariner for their misery.

v. The rich and the powerful people get monuments and statues erected in their memory so that they may be remembered by generations to come and their name be noted in history. It reflects their desire to be immortalized.

vi. Helen appeared before John and told him that she was a ghost from the Writer's Inspirational Bureau. But before that, in her human life, she used to write and later she worked as a reader in a magazine. As she knew the work was quite tiresome, she along with other ghosts formed the Writer's Inspirational Bureau.

12.

I. The poem highlights the vanity of human glory and power. It conveys that no human emotions of haughtiness, sneer, pride and arrogance assure immortality and durability against the all-powerful effect of time.

Everything in the world degenerates with the passage of time and under the powerful influence of the elements of nature. Even the mightiest of the mighty becomes dust. No trace of them is left on the sands of time. Ozymandias, a powerful king of Egypt was proud of his glory and achievements. He desired to immortalise his name and constructed a statue of himself. But nothing could stand against time and the powerful elements of nature. The broken statue symbolises the destruction caused by time. The sand of the desert, boundless and bare, symbolises the power of the elements.

II. Mrs. Amelia Slater, Abel Mertyweather's daughter seems far from being grief stricken when she thinks that her father is dead. In fact, she is more interested in outshining her sister by wearing a partial mourning outfit than sharing her grief with her sister. She thought that her sister Elizabeth would not have thought of wearing a mourning dress. However, she was mistaken as Elizabeth came to her house, although somewhat late, wearing full mourning dress. Thus, the sisters were only interested in showing grief at the death of their father without actually feeling it. Both are selfish and money-minded and are ready to go to any extreme to get what they wanted. They are insensitive to the feelings of others and have scant love and respect for their father.

Content – 4 Organisation – 3 Accuracy - 1